INDEX TO VOLUME XXI (1960)

(Names of Contributors appear in SMALL CAPITALS)

Addison, on 'Moral Habits of the Mind,' 409–427
AFRICA, THOMAS W., 266–272
Al-Farabi, on logic, 428–430
ALLEN, R. E., 256–265
America, education in, and Berkeley, 211–221; v. Jefferson
Art, v. Holbein
Astronomy, v. Copernicus
BALLARD, KAITH EMERSON, 49–65
BARON, HANS, 131–150, 450–451
Beattie, and Kant, 117–123
BEN-ISRAEL, HEDVA, 571–585
Berkeley, and education in America, 211–221
Bernard of Clairvaux, and the Gregorian ideal, 321–348
Bismarck, and realpolitik, 84–98
BLOOM, EDWARD A., and BLOOM, LILLIAN D., 409–427
Buridan, on the logic of fictions, 273–278
BURNS, J. H., 124–130
Business life, XVIth-century French arithmetics on, 18–48
Calvin, attitude toward Copernicus, 431–441
Cambridge Platonists, and Descartes, 560–567
CHARLTON, KENNETH, 99–109
Chinese civilization, the study of, 233–255
Climate, myths about, 465–480
Coleridge, his vindication of Spinoza, 279–293
CONROY, GRAHAM P., 211–221
Copernicus, Calvin's attitude toward, 431–441
Cowper, Deism, and divinization of nature, 511–526
Cromwell, as Machiavellian prince, in Marvell's 'An Horatian Ode,' 1–17
CRONIN, T. J., 553–559
DANIELS, ROBERT VINCENT, 538–552
DAVIS, JOHN W., 392–408
DAVIS, NATALIE ZEMON, 18–48
Deism, v. Cowper
DEMOS, RAPHAEL, 481–496
Descartes, eternal truths in, 553–559; and the Cambridge Platonists, 560–567
Economic theory, v. Mercantilism
Education, in the XVIth-century, and Holbein's 'Ambassadors,' 99–109; in America, and Berkeley, 211–221
'Egemonia,' concept of, in Gramsci, 586–599
Eighteenth century, v. Addison, Beattie, Berkeley, Cowper, Ferguson, Herder, Hume, Jefferson, Johnson, Kant, Isaac Newton
England, v. Addison, Berkeley, Cambridge Platonists, Coleridge, Cowper, Cromwell, Johnson, Marvell, Milton, Isaac Newton, John Frank Newton, Shelley, Spencer, Toynbee
Existence, IXth-century Arabic logician on, 428–430
Ferguson, unpublished ms. 'Of the Principle of Moral Estimation,' 222–232
France, v. Business life, Descartes, French Revolution
French arithmetics, on XVIth-century business life, 18–48
French Revolution, William Smyth on, 571–585
'Fits,' Newton's, waves and particles, 370–391
Germany, v. Bismarck, Herder, Holbein, Kant, Leibniz, Pufendorf, 'Winzerus'
GOSSMAN, LIONEL, 442–449
Gramsci, the concept of 'Egemonia' in, 586–599
Gregorian ideal, and Saint Bernard of Clairvaux, 321–348

HANSON, NORWOOD RUSSELL, 370–391
Herder, his philosophies of history, 527–537
Historiography, v. Gramsci, Herder, Marxian philosophy of history, Pufendorf, Smyth
Holbein, his 'Ambassadors,' and XVIth-century education, 99–109
HOLBORN, HAJO, 84–98
Holland, v. Spinoza
Humanism, political, in the Renaissance, 131–150
Hume, Kant's debt to, via Beattie, 117–123; two unpublished essays on mathematics in the papers of, 442–449
HUNTER, WILLIAM B., 349–369
Incarnation, Milton on, 349–369
Jefferson, Bill for Establishing Religious Freedom, Lockean ideas in, 110–116
JOHNSON, J. W., 465–480
Johnson, and mercantilism, 66–83
Kant, debt to Hume, via Beattie, 117–123
KRIEGER, LEONARD, 198–210
KROITOR, HARRY P., 511–526
Latin America, v. Ramos
Law, v. Pufendorf
Leibniz, theory of space and time, 49–65
Locke, and Jefferson's Bill for Establishing Religious Freedom, 110–116
Machiavelli, and Marvell's 'An Horatian Ode,' 1–17, 450–451
Marvell, Cromwell as Machiavellian prince in his 'An Horatian Ode,' 1–17; the occasion for his Growth of Popery, 568–570
Marx, philosophy of history, fate and will in, 538–552
Mathematics, in Russian culture, 161–179; two unpublished essays on, in the Hume papers, 442–499; v. French arithmetics
MAZZEO, JOSEPH ANTHONY, 1–17
Medieval tautology, a chimera is a chimera, 273–278
Mercantilism, and Samuel Johnson, 66–83
Metaphysics, and mythology, noetic models of, 300–308
METZGER, LORE, 279–293
MIDDENDORF, JOHN H., 66–83
Middle Ages, v. Al-Farabi, Bernard of Clairvaux, Buridan
Milton, on the causal structure of the 'fall,' 180–197; on the Incarnation, 349–369
Molyneux problem, 392–408
'Moral Habits of the Mind,' Addison on, 408–427
MOSSNER, ERNEST CAMPBELL, 222–232
Mythology, and metaphysics, noetic models of, 300–308
Nature, divinization of, Cowper, and Deism, 511–526
Newton, Isaac, waves, particles, and 'fits,' 370–391
Newton, John Frank, 497–510, 524–525
Nineteenth century, v. Bismarck, Coleridge, Marx, John Frank Newton, Psalidas, Shelley, Spencer, Smyth
Noetic models, mythology, and metaphysics, 300–308
Ortega y Gasset, in Mexico, 600–608
Philosophy, v. Addison, Al-Farabi, Beattie, Cambridge Platonists, Deism, Descartes, Hume, Kant, Leibniz, Locke, Medieval tautology, Molyneux problem, Noetic models, Ortega y Gasset, Plato, Psalidas, Ramos, Socratic paradox, Spinoza
Phylarchus, Toynbee, and the Spartan myth, 266–272
Physics, v. Newton

Plato, Shelley's attitude toward, 497–510
Poetry, v. Marvell
Political theory, v. Locke, Machiavelli, Realpolitik, 'Winzerus'
Psalidas, Athanasios P., 481–496
Pufendorf, and XVIIth-century history and law, 198–210
Ramos, Samuel, a tribute to, 600–608
Realpolitik, and Bismarck, 84–98
Renaissance, secularization of wisdom, and political humanism in, 131–150
Rescher, Nicholas, 428–430
Rice, Eugene F., The Renaissance Idea of Wisdom, reviewed, 131–150
Rieser, Max, 300–308
Roberts, Louise Nisbet, 273–278
Romanell, Patrick, 600–608
Rosen, Edward, 431–441
Russia, v. Mathematics
Sandler, S. Gerald, 110–116
Saveson, J. E., 560–567
Schmitter, Dean Morgan, 568–570
Scotland, v. Beattie, Ferguson, Hume
Seventeenth century, v. Addison, Cambridge Platonists, Cromwell, Descartes, Leibniz, Locke, Marvell, Milton, Isaac Newton, Pufendorf, Spinoza
Shelley, attitude toward Plato, 497–510
Simon, Walter M., 294–299
Sixteenth century, v. Calvin, French arithmetics, Holbein, Machiavelli, 'Winzerus'
Smyth, William, historian of the French Revolution, 571–585
'Social Organism,' in Spencer's thought, 294–299
Sociology, v. Spencer
Socratic paradox, 256–265
Space, and time, Leibniz's theory of, 49–65
Spartan myth, Phylarchus, and Toynbee, 266–272
Spencer, and the 'Social Organism,' 294–299
Spinoza, Coleridge's vindication of, 279–292
Steadman, John M., 180–197
Theology, v. Bernard of Clairvaux, Calvin, Deism, Incarnation, Milton
Time, and space, Leibniz's theory of, 49–65
Toynbee, Phylarchus, and the Spartan myth, 266–272
Twentieth century, v. Gramsci, Ortega y Gasset, Ramos, Toynbee
Vucinich, Alexander, 161–179
Waves, particles, and Newton's 'fits,' 370–391
Wells, G. A., 527–537
White, Hayden V., 321–348
Williams, Gwyn A., 586–599
'Winzerus,' a forgotten political writer, 124–130
Wisdom, secularization of, and political humanism, in the Renaissance, 131–150
Wolff, Robert P., 117–123
Woodman, Ross G., 497–510
Wright, Arthur F., 233–255

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

We wish to acknowledge with thanks the generous editorial collaboration of the following scholars during 1960: Nathan Berall, Herbert Butterfield, H. Stuart Hughes, Walter Kaufmann, Martin Kuhn, Ernest C. Mossner, William Payne, Susan Sontag, Arthur Tiedemann, Milton Wilson, A. S. P. Wodehouse, Harry A. Wolfson.